

Chevrolet Aveo: Another Best Buy Vehicle

Article by: Terry Brown

From General Motors' Chevrolet division is the Chevrolet Aveo. It has been made available as a passenger family or wagon which holds four doors and could take in five passengers in its interior and cabin. It also has been manufactured in six trim levels which range from the Special Value Sedan to the LT Wagon. During its introduction, the vehicle came equipped with a standard 1.6 L I4 engine that has the capacity and capability to produce 103 units of horsepower. This machine could achieve 26 mpg for city driving and some 35 mpg for the highway. Also made standard for the Chevrolet Aveo is a five speed manual transmission system with overdrive that has been equipped in the vehicle so as to assist the engine in producing power and in the vehicle's delivery. Given as an option, though, is a four speed automatic transmission system with overdrive.

The Chevrolet Aveo is said to be one affordable means of transportation for it could be purchased below $10,000. It also is not only affordable but it also gives interested parties the chance to choose between purchasing a sedan with four doors or a hatchback with five doors. It has been said that the Chevrolet Aveo would be directly competing with the Toyota Echo, the Scion xA, the Kia Rio, and the Hyundai Accent. This vehicle, the Chevrolet Aveo, actually is based on the Daewoo Kalo.

For a low cost car, the Chevrolet Aveo has nice interiors. In fact, it holds front seats that have been designed and manufactured to be comfortable. Even the back seats have been designed to be roomy and spacious. Indeed, this vehicle could be quite a good buy since it also looks good. It also has body panels that fit quite well. It has a sharp steering and has a reasonably quiet cabin.

The design of the Chevrolet Aveo is the product of the creative minds and careful hands of the Italdesign studio by Giorgetto Giugiaro which is found in Turin, Italy. The vehicle is mounted and crafted on top of the 97.6 inch wheelbase. It also has horizontal headlights and these are also nicely rounded at the corners. The grille also is a fun thing to look at for it holds a bright crossbar and a Chevrolet brand tag. Auto Parts Information
